

Xstore Retail POS

POS for a connected marketplace

Full-featured, flexible, and fast

The retail landscape is continually changing. New business models and technologies are emerging rapidly in response to an ever-more demanding consumer. Making the right decision regarding your front line POS system is critical to gaining and maintaining a competitive advantage. MICROS-Retail's Xstore™ POS is much more than a point-of-sale. It is a complete point-of-service system that empowers your staff to provide memorable service levels and build strong customer loyalty.

Xstore POS significantly improves retail operations. Importantly, it secures your customer's sensitive data and keeps you compliant with the industry's most stringent data privacy standards. Xstore's POS user interface helps you maximize sales associate productivity. The intuitive design collapses training time, decreases transaction processing times, and reduces user errors. These benefits are applied equally to non-sales functions such as till counting, inventory, and shipping/receiving. The power of Xstore POS extends also to the store manager where it supports bank deposits, labor scheduling, timekeeping, and reporting. Ultimately managers spend less time on administrative tasks and more time motivating associates and assisting customers.

Xstore POS is built on a redundant real-time transaction framework. It breaks down the outdated paradigm of the retail store. Xstore can fully leverage the power of advanced network technologies and integrate all your field operations into a single, powerful, multi-channel retail organization.

Why retailers choose Xstore:

- Robust functionality out of the box
- Boosts productivity and speeds training
- Mobile POS and back office options
- Interfaces easily with remote data sources
- International capabilities
- PA-DSS validated

Endless opportunity

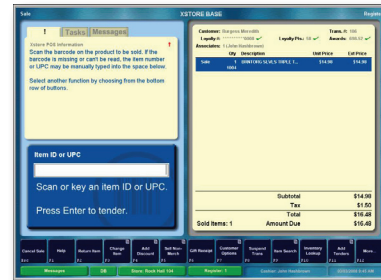

With Xstore, you exceed your customers' expectations by enabling your store personnel to process transactions quickly, efficiently respond to inquiries, use customers' histories to extend personalized offers, and provide the special touches that maintain your brand. Since Xstore can exchange data with your other channels, you create a unified shopping experience while expanding your information database.

Easy to learn and use. Xstore is easy to learn and allows employees to become productive quickly, resulting in a lower daily operating cost in each and every store. Whether on the sales floor or in the back office, Xstore's user interface is intuitive and efficient. Multi-task processes, like store open and close, have automated functions that make them faster and more accurate.

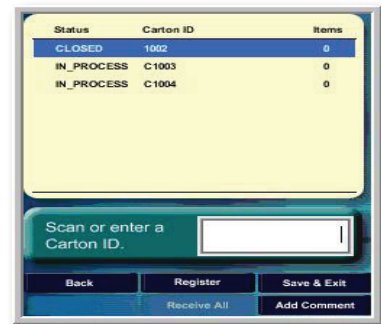

Mobile. Xstore mobile solutions keep your staff active and engaged with customers on the sales floor whether providing product information or conducting sales transactions. Inventory and shipping/receiving functions can also be handled efficiently with a wireless handheld device. Since the handheld uses the same application code as a standard register, most features added to the Xstore base will be configured to run on the handheld as well. This eliminates the need to maintain two separate code bases.

Choice of technology. You know what is best for your chain and your budget. Xstore lets you select from a variety of databases, operating systems, and hardware platforms. MICROS-Retail experts can provide assistance in selecting and acquiring the systems you need within your timeframe.

Modify without changing base code. All business logic operations within Xstore is handled by processing a chain of individual functions. The order in which the functions are executed is configured through an editable XML document. Modifications can be made in the extension layer above the base code which avoids programming costs and allows the modifications to be inherited by future base upgrades.

Pleasing screen design directs the user's attention to the task at hand and provides a means to present timely corporate communications.

Back office functions, such as receiving using a handheld device, are designed to save time and increase accuracy.

Increase revenue and decrease cost:

- Improve productivity and sales
- Open your stores to cross-channel sales capability
- Automatically calculate deal pricing
- Reduce shrink through built in controls and returns management
- Modify processes without altering the base code

Find out more about how MICROS-Retail can help you grow

Get in touch with us for more information or to schedule a demo or consultation

E-mail: info@micros-retail.com

Phone: 888.328.2826

MICROS-Retail

1800 West Park Drive

Westboro, MA 01581, USA

Sales information:

508.389.1700 | 888.328.2826 (US and Canada)

info@micros-retail.com

www.micros-retail.com